

WAKE ME WHEN IT'S OVER!

Why so many presentations suck and yours don't have to

PROGRAM LENGTH

4hrs - 6hrs

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

Let's face it - most of us have seen our share of presentations that we were less than impressed with (i.e. they "sucked"). The fact is that most presentations that suck do so because a very clear set of avoidable factors. In this program you'll learn critical strategies to overcome those factors from one of the best - Greg Gray has given more than a thousand presentations all over the world. When you come to this workshop, be prepared to get a full toolbox of ideas, strategies, and techniques that will help you become a more confident, more effective presenter!

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

- Learning what separates great presentations from presentations that suck
- Dispelling the myths that suck about giving presentations
- Avoiding preparation that sucks
- Properly structuring your presentation around the 3 questions that every audience wants you to answer
- Avoiding the 5 things that typically make easel pad presentations suck
- Avoiding Presentation Slides that suck
- How to make sure your brainstorming sessions don't suck
- Making sure your introduction doesn't suck
- Avoiding humor that sucks
- Avoiding handouts that suck
- Proper utilization of video during your presentation
- Avoiding distracting body language during your presentation
- 5 benefits to arriving early
- How to handle Q&A from the audience
- How to handle hostile or aggressive audience members
- Giving team presentations that don't suck
- Identifying and overcoming on-site issues that suck
- Do's and Don'ts of Virtual presentations
- On being a low maintenance presenter

